

Radical Writers: Richard Yeboah

This event is part of Abney Park Trust's 2025 "Radical Writers" festival. The festival explores the works of writers inspired by Abney's and Hackney's diverse history of radical thought and action.

About This Event

Richard Yeboah is a writer, public servant and historian from Hackney, East London with a strong interest in local history, public policy and urbanism, and has written on a variety of political and social issues over the last ten years. Richard's long-anticipated book "From Hackney, With Love: An Intimate History of Gentrification" was published in May 2025 and is a part-history, part-memoir reflecting on the dramatic physical, socioeconomic and cultural transformation of Hackney over the last few decades. You can book your ticket by visiting here: <https://www.tickettailor.com/events/abneyparktrust/1802279>. Tickets cost £6

Accessibility Information

Event Time

Thu,
25th Sep
2025

7:00pm - 8:30pm

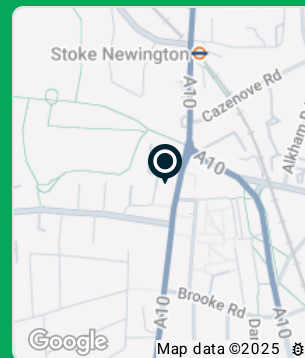

Event Price

£6.0

Event Location

Abney Park
215 Stoke Newington
High Street, London
N16 0LH

This event will take place at the Harriet Delph room by the cafe at the Stoke Newington High Street entrance to the park. If you have any questions, please contact: info@abneypark.org.

